Mrs. W. H. Hancock, 9715 96A street, is in the Misericordia hospital suffering bruises and shock, as result of an accident in which she was knocked down by a car while waiting for a street car on Jasper at 110 street at 8:15 p.m. Friday.

Driver of the car, Camillo Ribba, 1000 13 street, has been arrested on charge of dangerous driving. He drove Mrs. Hancock to the hospital after the mishap.

Japs, Mongolians in New Air Battle: 61 Planes Downed

TOKYO, June 24.—A new air battle between Japanese and Mongolians in a continuation of fighting along the border between Manchukuo and Russian-dominated Outer Mongolia was reported today by Japanese.

An unspecified number of Japanese planes were said to have downed 15 Mongolian craft, bringing to 61 the number Japanese declared they had shot down since Thursday.

A war office spokesman said a new attack by Mongolian was expected.

Domei, Japanese News Agency, told of the new air battle. Its report said the Japanese planes had repulsed an attack by 60 Mongolian planes in a "fierce mid-air encounter" over the Kiala river, near Amnukhan, north of Lake Baikal.

The war office spokesman said another attack could be expected because "the Mongols have a disciplined enemy, must demonstrate renewed strength in order to regain their confidence."

WOMAN CHOSEN BY C.C.F. IN WESTRIDING

C.C.F. Names Mrs. Roy
Peterson As Lac Ste.
Anne Candidate

SANGUIN, June 24.—Mrs. Roy Peterson, of Mayberry, was chosen C.C.F. candidate for the provincial riding of Lac Ste. Anne at a nominating convention held here Friday. She defeated James Calder, who moved that her election be made unanimous.

Criticism of the provincial government for having "failed completely" to rid the province of plebeians was made by Elmer E. Roper, Edmonton, provincial secretary of the C.C.F., who was convention speaker.

While the provincial government, he added, had failed to keep its pledges, "taxes had grown by 75 per cent."

"The C.C.F. would proceed immediately to deal with the most pressing problems facing the people of Alberta," Mr. Roper said, in outlining the C.C.F. platform in the provincial field.

"The present government," he submitted, "has done nothing to settle debt, but had established a virtual moratorium which was to be a blanket over the debt under which the debt was growing all the time."

ED. REPP who is receiving congratulations on his promotion to special salesman and supervisor for Northern Alberta for the Canadian Oil Companies Ltd. For the past seven years he has covered the Edmonton and Camrose districts for the C.O.C. and his new post now gives him supervision over all districts in Alberta from Red Deer north.

DEBT ADJUSTMENT
"A C.C.F. government would do away with the present government debt, and pass a Debt Adjustment Act and set up a sufficient number of banks to take care of the problem," Mr. Roper declared.

He reviewed the party's plan of public ownership of oil wells and other natural resources, necessary for the people's welfare.

SOCKED CAUCUS IS CONCLUDED ON VOTE PLANS

Social Credit members of parliament on Friday concluded their two-day caucus at the legislative building, held draft and study a platform on which to appeal the electorate at the coming federal general election.

Leader of the Social Credit party in parliament, Hon. W. B. Blackmore, declared that there was "nothing to say" regarding the discussion. The platform, Mr. Blackmore indicated, is not yet in shape for public information.

Mr. Blackmore, in reply to a question, declared he had no comment on the "Dixie" movement, headed by Hon. W. D. Herridge, former Canadian minister to Washington.

Asked if there would be further caucuses, Mr. Blackmore said there would, and indicated that dates would be arranged later.

The utmost secret prevailed during the caucus, he said.

Mr. Blackmore, in addition to attending the caucus, visited several government departments and left Friday midnight for Lebridge. Other members attending the caucus also returned to their homes.

General meeting of the Married Ex-Servicemen's Association will be held in the Memorial hall on Wednesday, June 28, at 2:30 p.m.

Youth Must Be Served

Delegates who have passed beyond the meridian of life packed and overflowed a convention hall in Indianapolis to cheer Dr. Townsend, author of the "ham and eggs" plan, otherwise the plan to pay $30 a week pensions to aged people in the United States. The plan is in the discard, for the time, and the delegates must have felt that they were paying tribute to a lost cause rather than celebrating the prospect of victory.

But the cause is not lost—in the United States or in Canada. Dr. Townsend's scheme in detail may never be adopted in either country. But time is on the side of the idea embodied in the scheme, and every year that passes without a solution of the unemployment problem makes more certain that to pay retirement pensions to aged persons is the one way to restore business and redeem youth from idleness.

Today it is only old folks who are backing the retirement pension idea. After a while it will be backed by young folks as well. For youth will one of these days come to realize that it is the old folks who are standing in the way, holding the jobs, and keeping youth out of employment. Then the legislators will enact retirement pension schemes on the quick-order principle.

Putting It in Words

"The paramount duty of United States naval vessels is the protection of American citizens, and they will go wherever it is necessary at any time to carry out that mission and will remain in such places as long as American citizens need protection or assistance."

Admiral Yarnell certainly did not hide his meaning in diplomatic obscurity when he sent this straight reply to the Japanese commander who ordered or "warned" him to take his ships out of the harbor at Swatow. Now when we added that Japan would be held responsible for any injury done to United States vessels or members of their crews when so engaged.

What the Admiral so well stated goes also for British, French and any other foreign warships in Chinese waters or ports. They are there, and have a right to be there, to protect citizens of their respective countries; and are not to be ordered away because their presence interferes with the undeclared war the Japanese leaders are waging against the Chinese.

It is left to the proverbial astuteness of the Japanese war directors to draw their own inferences as to the risks they run if they damage foreign warships engaged in this "paramount" duty of protecting foreigners lawfully residing in China. What is not left for them to speculate about is whether the warships will clear out because they tell them so.

Well Earned Cheers

The King and Queen were welcomed "home" to England in a way that must have reminded them of the reception they met in Canada and the United States. Maybe the association of ideas had something to do with the unusual crowds and the unusual popular enthusiasm at Southampton and London, and so to be unprecedented since the coronation. Perhaps we on this side set a pace that helped to put "rep" into the demonstrations on the other side, where the comings and goings of royalty have no element of novelty.

However that may be, the King and Queen returned to the old lands with a new prestige, won by their efforts, which must react to add greatly to the personal regard in which they are held there. Canada and the United States are definitely "for" King George and Queen Elizabeth. There is no doubt about that; and no discounting the importance of the fact in its bearing on the solidarity of the Empire and the relations between the Empire and the United States.

The visit to this continent was an experiment, which to people in the old lands may well have seemed daring. Had the King and Queen been of a different type, the visit might easily have been a flop, even a disaster. It was a magnificent success, due to their own personalities and good sense. They have completed a mission of first rate importance, and did the job well. The crowds who turned out to cheer their return had good cause to cheer. The Empire, and the solidarity of the justice and international good will, could not have been better served.

Moscow Takes Its Time

The negotiations aimed to bring Russia into the anti-aggression line-up are still hanging fire, and with no promise of immediate success. It also carries a suggestion that the war menace is not considered imminent. If the Axis troops were on the move, or getting ready to move, the bargaining would be conducted in a less leisurely manner.

And the negotiations are proceeding on a basis of bargain-making; there is no reason to doubt. Britain and France are asking Russian support. Stalin is thus in position, so long as the menace is not imminent, to stipulate conditions, hold out for bids, and make terms. As inter-continental combinations in Europe are formed by a kind of glorified horse-trading, and always have been, no particular blame is coming to him for trying to get whatever it he wants.

In guaranteeing Poland and Rumania against assault Britain and France threw protecting screens of forbidden territory between Hitler and the Ukraine he covets. The astute Stalin knows this quite well, and knows that because of it the anti-aggression powers need his support more than he needs theirs. Russia is safe so long as Poland and Rumania are involved.

What precisely Moscow wants can only be surmised. That it is really standing out because Finland, Estonia and Latvia have not been guaranteed by name against aggression is a bit difficult to believe. The notion that Hitler might seize one of these countries and make it a base for an attack on Russia is rather far-fetched. Both Moscow and London have denied that Russia asks an alliance extending to Asia.

Berlin has disclosed that it is also bidding for Russian support—and has offered Russia $300,000,000 of long term credits for the purchase of German goods. Berlin is likely to know what bid would appeal to the Soviet chief, and it may be inferred that credits or trade terms are the favors he is asking for Russian adherence to the anti-aggression block.

Whether this surmise is right or wrong, there is obviously no hurry on the part of Moscow; which would hardly be the case if Stalin thought the Führer was likely to proceed in the near future to carry out the plans he so clearly and obligingly outlined in Mein Kampf.

Two Edmonton hospitals are planning the building of new "wings", further evidence of the continued growth of the population of the city. It is unfortunate that hospitals are required; but, as they are required, the creditable thing is that in our part of the world they are built to keep pace with the growing need. No city in Canada makes less provision for the care of the sick than does Edmonton.

The Passing Show

By J. K. COWPER

Regret is expressed in Conservative circles at the "where" where interest is taken in Alberta affairs—the failure of the Unity movement to absorb the Liberal party. It seems to have been accepted that the Alberta Liberal party had been willing to give the Calgary convention to sink its identity into the so-called "Unity" coalition party. Recent refusal so to do, seems to have upset calculations. The political path is a thorny one, with many aldermen leading from it.

I've been reading of late the Memoirs of M. de Bismarck, famous European correspondent of the London Times. He was a born journalist, with much of the American passion for a major "accept" in an age before it had taken hold of the more sedate journalism of England.

De Bismarck's greatest scoop—and a real one it was, too—was publication in the Times at the very hour it was signed in Berlin of the famous Berlin Treaty of 1878. A Congress of the Great Powers had met to decide the partitioning of the Balkans after the defeat of Turkey by Russia. Great financial and political fates depended upon it. Rumania, Serbia, Bulgaria, and in part, Bulgaria were freed from the domination of the Sultan; Bosnia and Herzegovina were put under the rule of Austria and Cyprus under that of Great Britain.

In Berlin, when Salisbury, Disraeli, Bismarck, Count Curi, Launey, Karolyi and Andrássy, the Prussian ambassador, and other plenipotentiaries were signing the treaty with its long preamble and 64 articles, a simple one. De Bismarck told the British ambassador that he had bribed the full treaty with English translation had been published that morning in the Times. There was a scoop that was a scoop.

In his Memoirs, publication of which he withheld until after his death, de Bismarck reveals many of the secrets of his career. The inner story of the Berlin Treaty was not a simple one. De Bismarck told the British ambassador that he had bribed the full treaty with English translation had been published that morning in the Times. There was a scoop that was a scoop.

INSIDE STORY OF "A SCOOP" of each day's proceedings. The news was conveyed in a hat lining—de Bismarck and the British ambassador the same size head.

Each evening at dinner, on leaving the dining room of the hotel, de Bismarck carried out on his head the hat which the secretary had taken from him. Both, however, de Bismarck obtained important private information from the great Prince Bismarck himself. It was Bismarck, the German, who gave him the advance copy of the treaty. Bismarck knew he could not be telegraphed from Germany before it was signed, and was astounded to find it in the Times the next morning.

De Bismarck had entrusted the document to a colleague who took train to Brussels, reached there at 8 a.m., and the special infirmary with the head of the Belgian government telegraph service got the precious document sent to London. For his relations with the British ambassador, the impetuous Russian was given sufficient to set him up in a successful business in one of the British colonies. Newspaper "scoops" of such importance are rarely met.

Of the many eminent men in whom he rendered great service as a journalist, de Bismarck says only one (the late Lord Salisbury, Minister of Foreign Affairs) ever acknowledged his services. Politicians may have been pretty much the same 75 years ago as they are today.

A Useful Life

In the death of Miss Annie Laird, the late professor of household science, Toronto has lost a pioneer in a profession that has unique importance. Household science, which combines the study of nutrition, dietetics, home economy, is one of the younger faculties to be included in a university, and it is only within comparatively recent years that this subject became organized to attain the dignity of a science.

It was Miss Laird who initiated and developed the department of household science in Toronto from a modest little cookery school to its present dignified status of a department of university studies. From it have issued several scores of women trained in the science of nutrition and home economy, and through them has spread throughout the country a knowledge of better feeding and more skillful household management. Some of these graduates have found employment in hotels, restaurants, hospitals; they helped to bring about changes in the menus of public eating places, and thus helped to improve the eating habits and the health of many people. Many of these graduates are also serving in schools and elsewhere as instructors of dietetics, budgeting and running a household. They are in this way making one of the most important contributions to the welfare of the nation—Toronto Star.

A Stupid Regulation

Tourists who travel to Canada coming into Canada may bring their cars and use them without restriction for their own service, but not for commercial purposes. Salesmen of outside goods may not bring in their cars for use here in their business.

Now, under a regulation issued by the Customs Department at Ottawa, persons who come here with the intention of buying or investing must have their cars in the country.

Now, under a regulation issued by the Customs Department at Ottawa, persons who come here with the intention of buying or investing must have their cars in the country. They should they do any buying or investing.

We must understand the reason for such a regulation. Surely the people we have been most desirous of attracting are those who may find something here worth buying or investing in. One of the objects in business is to buy and sell. It is bringing in persons with outside money to take advantage of the opportunities we are able to provide for investment. Under the Ottawa regulation, it is possible to bar at the border the car of a person who has come with the object of buying at a widely-advertised auction sale or acquiring antiquities at one of the numerous shops for which Victoria is famed.

What bureaucrats in the department at Ottawa thought up and have now had embodied in "this regulation." We hope the Chamber of Commerce encounters no delay in its efforts to have the regulation repealed.—Victoria Daily Times.

June 24: St. Baptiste day in French Canada; the feast of St. Jean l'Évangéliste, patron saint of the Maconnic Order.

Two great contrasts. The French-Canadian feast based primarily upon attendance at Mass, and their parades and jubiliations over the growth of their people in less than 300 years. June 24 is a gala day wherever French-Canadians live, no matter how small the community they have their celebration, while in Montreal there is always a great parade with allegorical floats and much noisy activity.

To the Freemasons, June 24 is equally sacred. They recall that as early as 1751 the first Maconnic service in what became Canada was held in St. Paul's church in Montreal. The lodge of St. Jean of Upper Canada gathered for their first service in St. George's, Kingston, followed soon after by the lodge of St. Jean in London and Adolphowtown. Governor Simcoe was a Mason, founding the first lodge at Niagara. Indeed, it was in Freemasonry that public worship was held and the legislature met at times.

Then it must not be forgotten that it was on June 24, 1497, that John Cabot, from Bristol, first landed on Cape Breton, and claimed the country for England and Henry VII. Nova Scotians and many other Canadians regard this Cabot landing as the "discovery" of Canada. French-Canadians dispute this and assert that Cabot may have discovered Nova Scotia; but that it was Jacques Cartier who in 1534 first sailed up the St. Lawrence and discovered "Canada."

Probably both schools are wrong, for who knows how many Norwegians penetrated the Gulf long before either Cabot and Cartier? The St. Jean Baptiste Society of Montreal, the first in Canada, was founded by Ludger DuRoi in 1834 and adopted the maple leaf as its emblem in 1838 and had its first parade June 24, 1845.

"O Mother's patriotic hymn, was first sung in public at a St. Jean Baptiste celebration at Quebec in 1860. Who would then have predicted that it would have become a "Canadian national anthem" for which the King of Canada and his Queen stood at attention?"

A big buck Indian had just ordered a ham sandwich at a drug store, and was sitting between the slices of bread when he turned and said to the waiter, "Ugh, you slice 'em ham!" The waiter replied, "Yes, I sliced the ham."

"Ugh," grunted the Indian, "you darn near mia 'em."

The Cancer Riddle Solved

Editor, Bulletin: The medical profession has solved the cancer riddle. The solution will be unpopular, for it conflicts with the interests of big business. Big business wants foods that will keep good on the grocer's shelves for a year or so. Mother Nature is quite indifferent to big business. "Okey my dietetics or die!" is her ultimatum and with ruthless ferocity she carries out her threats. Hence the drastic rise in the cancer rate in the last forty years. An American doctor speaking in the Macdonald hotel, Edmonton, last year to a company of doctors, said, "One in every five of you will die of cancer." A shiver ran through the audience. Yet, according to a cancer specialist whose book I was reading the other day, in 1840 the death rate from cancer was negligible. Paris passed with the rise of big business—modern modernity—has advanced the death rate of cancer. Today we are at the parting of the ways. We know the cause of cancer, but—big business has the money. Which will win? If big business wins, the race is dead. Cancer.

I have done my small part in trying to save the human race from the awful scourge of cancer. I have nursed my father through a nightmare year when he was dying of that horrible plague, and I would be glad to help others.

Outstanding Year Book is Published by Students of McDougall Commercial High

SEVENTY-TWO pages of pictures, humorous little articles, messages and reviews of the year's activities in the different phases of school life, comprise "The Comet," McDougall Commercial High School year book. The book is worthy of high rating anywhere in Canada for high school publications.

Frontispiece of book is a large picture of the staff of the year book, which is a picture of the large, beautiful school, together with a short sketch of the history of the institution. Prominent mention is given to the fact that the school is the home of the world champion Edmonton Gracie basketball team.

One of the best laid out school publications to make an appearance in Edmonton is "The Comet," which is published by the students of the McDougall Commercial High School.

Phillips Doherty, Editor of "The Comet."

Winning Prints Can Be Taken in Box Camera

The idea your equipment is not good enough to make "Boxing Prints" is quite mistaken as the lowly box camera can make prints which show intensity and expression. Prints of "Box" should be sent to Canada, in care of The Edmonton Bulletin, before June 30th. The bulk of each year's year book, and the year's year book, are sent to Canada, in care of The Edmonton Bulletin, before June 30th.

Better Snapshots

A common fault in many snapshots is blurring due to movement of the subject or still more commonly, due to the camera. The common remedy is to use a higher shutter speed, or to use a tripod or other firm support. With fast film the use of a tripod is not necessary for slow speed shots.

Exposure is rather critical with these materials and they are very sensitive to light. When all other factors are exhausted this will serve to renew your interest.

Beginners Department

Leslie wrote, because they have the power to bring light passing through them. If a pencil is held immersed in a glass of water it will appear to be bent at the surface. This bending is called refraction, and the extent to which different substances show this effect on light is measured with suitable instruments and given as a "refractive index," which for water is 4/3; for glass 3/2; for diamond 2 1/2.

Leslie is a piece of glass with surfaces the shape of spheres cut to various thicknesses and of different radii. By careful choice of curvature and glass of suitable refractive index it is possible to make combinations of the required focal length, aperture and freedom from errors. This subject is so difficult, for discussion without diagrams, that the order is referred to Encyclopedia and textbooks dealing with the topic.

Leslie's Camera Club will not meet during July and August but will meet during September and October.

School Lacking in Numbers But Not in Enthusiasm

INDIAN RIVER, Minn., June 24.—A telephone booth would probably make a classroom for what may be the world's smallest high school, located in this northern Minnesota town.

Some students—seven boys and two girls—make up the entire staff body.

Enthusiasm

But what the school lacks in numbers is made up in enthusiasm. When Coach Sam McLaughlin, who coaches the basketball team, called for a basketball team, all seven boys reported. All seven boys were present.

Mid-Curriculum

Although built in 1925, the school plant has been enlarged to provide one room structure, needed then, for classrooms and an assembly hall.

TIDES.

THE PERIODIC RISE AND FALL OF THE EARTH'S SEAS AND OCEANS IS CAUSED PRINCIPALLY BY THE ATTRACTION OF THE MOON, AND TO A LESSER DEGREE, THAT OF THE SUN.

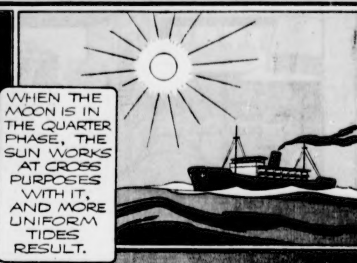

THE WATER ON THAT SIDE OF THE EARTH TOWARD THE MOON IS DRAWN TOWARD THE MOON, WHILE THAT ON THE OPPOSITE SIDE, BEING FARTHER AWAY, IS ATTRACTED LESS, AND SAGS. / THUS, TWO HIGH TIDES AND TWO LOW TIDES EXIST ON THE EARTH CONTINUOUSLY.

DUE TO THE ROTATION OF THE EARTH ON ITS AXIS, THE TIDAL WAVES MOVE FROM EAST TO WEST AROUND THE GLOBE, IN A SUCCESSION OF HIGH AND LOW TIDES, BECAUSE THE MOON IS MOVING FROM WEST TO EAST AROUND THE EARTH, EACH TIDE RECURS ABOUT FIFTY MINUTES LATER THAN IT DID THE DAY BEFORE.

AT TIMES OF NEW AND FULL MOON, WHEN THE SUN AND MOON ARE IN LINE WITH THE EARTH, VERY HIGH AND VERY LOW TIDES OCCUR.

WHEN THE MOON IS IN THE QUARTER PHASE, THE SUN WORKS AT CROSS PURPOSES WITH IT, AND MORE UNIFORM TIDES RESULT.

OUT IN THE OCEAN, THE RISE AND FALL OF THE TIDE AVERAGES FROM TWO TO THREE FEET. IN THE BAY OF FUNDY, TIDES RISE TO SEVENTY FEET IN HEIGHT.
